

What Kenton Brothers offers to help prevent an active shooter situation:

Secured Entry Points
 Securing and monitoring all points of entry to the building from the outside and alerting security responders to all entrances is one of the top ways to keep your building safe.
Video Surveillance
 Well placed surveillance cameras reduce threats of violence and vandalism and help identify and solve problems as they arise.
Ballistic Laminate
 Security laminate film is discreet and can be applied to existing glass. The film leaves your glass windows and doors bullet resistant, smash resistant, and bomb resistant.
Metal Detectors
 Private and public buildings have increasingly used metal detectors to ensure that visitors, staff and students do not bring weapons or other metallic objects that may be used for harm onto the premises.
Architectural Locking Hardware
 Mechanical cylindrical and mortise locks, door closers, panic bars, and secure doors create a strong framework for a safe building.
Mass Notifications
 Mass notification systems enable users to send notifications to individuals or groups using lists, locations, and visual intelligence keeping everyone informed before, during, and after events.
Access Control
 User group based access control allows permissions to certain areas of the building based on job function, helping to keep people in the safest spots in the building.
Visitor Management
 Visitor management systems enhance access control and perimeter security with registering, badges, tracking and managing your facility's visitor traffic.
HideAway Emergency Shelter
 These portable, collapsible safe rooms protect against military grade weapons. They also fold to a width of just 19 inches to be stored easily in classrooms and hold up to 25 students and 1 teacher.
Intruder Defense Devices
 Intruder defense products allow individuals inside classrooms and small spaces to employ effective barricades to doors and windows.

Let Kenton Brothers help you create your security plan for your business, school, faith centers or public building.
